

In reply to Uvaraj Balasubramaniam

Re: Initial Post

by Patricia Lapierre - Saturday, 1 October 2022, 5:06 AM

Hi Uvaraj,

I enjoyed reading your post. I like your summary about CVSS, but mostly your point of view about SSVC. I think you highlighted a very important point by addressing the issue of considering so many points of view from different stakeholders. So what is your answer to the original question: what do you propose for alternative to CVSS?

PermalinkShow parentReply

In reply to Uvaraj Balasubramaniam

Re: Initial Post

by Yash Roongta - Thursday, 27 October 2022, 8:29 AM

Hi Uvaraj,

It was a delight to read this post; and you raise a good point about prioritization variance when it comes to different stakeholders.

This is where the organization's hierarchy would come into play and their assigned vision and mission towards cyber security, cyber resilience and overall strengthened security posture objectives and goals would help make decisions somewhat simpler.

In most cases even though there are differences on the stakeholder plate; they may very well align with the larger objective and in turn be resolved simultaneously in certain scenarios as well.